concern. Prime Minister and President Khatami emphasised the need to enhance trade ties, economic and technical cooperation and cultural contacts.

Prime Minister and President Khatami of Iran signed the 'Tehran Declaration', which embodies their vision of cooperation based on shared concerns, common aspirations and shared complementarities for the benefit of the two peoples and of the region and world at large. In addition, agreements on (i) Trade and Economic Cooperation and (ii) Customs Cooperation and MOUs on (iii) Information Technology (iv) Cooperation in the field of Energy (v) Cooperation in the field of Power (conventional and non-conventional sources) and (vi) Technical Cooperation were also signed.

In order to encourage trade and economic cooperation between India and Iran, Prime Minister expressed India's willingness offer a line of credit of US$ 200 million particularly for infrastructure projects in Iran on terms and conditions to be mutually decided upon.

(b) and (c) India and Iran have historical ties of friendship and cooperation and Prime Minister's recent visit to Iran has opened a new chapter in our bilateral relations. Prime Minister's interaction with the Iranian leadership witnessed a reiteration of a mutual desire to build on civilisational affinities and cultural commonalties, impart commercial, economic and technological depth to the relationship, pursue the continuing dialogue at official level and political levels on regional and international issues. The agreements and MOUs signed during the visit will establish a structural framework for boosting trade and economic cooperation between the two countries.
